

March 3, 2015

Dear Mr. Lillard:

Congratulations on the recent completion of your Bachelor's degree in Technical Sales from Weber State University. That is a great accomplishment, especially considering the time constraint of playing professional basketball with the Portland Trail Blazers.

We are especially interested in your skills of negotiation, public speaking and overall technical sales training. Clearly you are a focused, competitive individual that understands the value of teamwork and possesses an entrepreneurial spirit.

While we know you are actively engaged with the Trail Blazers, and we will always cheer you on, we wanted to take this moment to share with you another opportunity with another exceptional team.

We think you would be a great fit at our growing company, so should you decide to leave the Trail Blazers to embark on a career in the e-discovery technology space, Zapproved welcomes you.

To learn more about Zapproved and see our team opportunities visit:

<http://www.zapproved.com/company/careers/>

Sincerely,

Your Friends at Zapproved

